BAPTIST WORLD ALLIANCE OPEN IN STOCKHOLM

Representatives of 36 Nations Answer Roll Call

(By The Associated Press)
STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 21.—Thirty-six nations answered the roll call at the opening this afternoon of the third congress of the Baptist World Alliance and after a welcome from the Baptists of Sweden by Dr. J. Bystrom, president of the Swedish union and Premier Trygve, greetings were read from President Harding and the former prime minister, David Lloyd George.

President Harding's message, presented thru the Rev. W. S. Abernethy, of Washington, his pastor, was as follows:

Harding's Message

"I should be glad if you will find an opportunity to convey to the Baptist World Alliance the greetings of a fellow Baptist and express for me the hope that we shall have through the world a continued growth in that religious brotherhood of men in a conscientious worship of God. I believe with all my heart that nothing is more needed in the world today than the practical application of the spirit of Christ."

EXPERIMENTING TO CARRY AEROPLANES BENEATH AIRSHIPS

Proven Planes can Land and Take Off When Both are Moving

(By The Associated Press)
BELLEVILLE, Ill., July 21.—Experiments to be carried out by the army air service to produce a feasible means of carrying aeroplanes on airships by launching and landing devices Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the service, declared tonight at Scott Field, the chief army lighter-than-air station where he is visiting on a tour of inspection.

"Airships are useful in war for long distance reconnaissance work, high altitude bombing, transportation of men and supplies, and probably the most important of all, carrying other planes," the general said. "Experiments so far have demonstrated beyond doubt that a plane can land on a ship when both are moving."

"The flying range of ships is greater than that of planes. It would be feasible to send ships anywhere in the country carrying planes suspended beneath which could take off while in the air near an objective. The experiments have been carried on partly by having planes land on wires but I expect within a month we will have one land on an airship."

General Patrick said it was probable that Lieutenant R. L. Maughan whose second attempt at a dawn-to-dusk transcontinental flight was halted in Wyoming, less than 70 miles from the goal, would not be allowed to make another attempt for the record this year. The air service believes the shortening of the daylight period as summer wanes would prevent achievement of the feat.

Judge Jones Sustains Brundage Exceptions

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 21.—Styling Governor Len Small's allegation that Attorney General Brundage "or one of his agents" had abstracted records from the state treasurer's office and had mutilated them, as "merely a countercharge and useless to this court" Circuit Judge Norman L. Jones late this afternoon sustained the attorney general's objection in arguments on the civil suits that the charge is "scandalous and impertinent." He also sustained two other exceptions of the attorney general.

The ruling gives a distinct advantage to the prosecution of the case, demanding an accounting for state moneys received by the governor while state treasurer. The first exception sustained was as follows:

"That the statement that Governor Small has not now in his possession and did not take with him when he left the office of state treasurer certain books containing the record of money deposited in the 'vest pocket bank' in Grant Park and the imputation that the attorney general or one of his guests abstracted the same from the office of the state treasurer and that the same have been either destroyed or mutilated is scandalous and impertinent."

RETALIATION SEEN AS CAUSE FOR THE LOW WHEAT PRICES

Grain Speculators Opposed to Regulation of Exchanges

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 21.—The fall in wheat prices during recent months was attributed to manipulation by grain speculators in retaliation of the regulation of the grain exchanges by congress in a letter written by Senator Ladd, Republican North Dakota on the eve of his departure for Europe and made public today at his office here. Nine days after the regulatory legislation became effective, the senator asserted, "the wheat market started to slide and since that time there has been a steady decrease."

"For thirty years, he continued, 'the speculators successfully fought legislation that would curb their activities. Now finally this new law with a few teeth in it is proving to be annoying and they inaugurated a period of strict discipline for the wheat farmer and for the farm bloc in congress by which discipline they hope to eventually convince the wheat grower that he was all wrong in dreaming legislation which curbed their power and that he must come back and ask congress to repeal this annoying measure, take the teeth from the law and again trust to the generous mercies of the wheat shakers.'

"Their system has worked very cleverly during the last three months in driving down the prices of wheat by means of heavy short selling. The propaganda has been clever and the consistent crops estimates, weather reports for regulation supply and demand, domestic needs possibilities of a tremendous surplus in the growing crop all have been cleverly used to force the natural buyer out of the market in the belief that he would eventually buy at lower prices."

GERMANS HAVE NOT GOT BRITISH NOTE

BERLIN, July 21.—The German government has not as yet received a copy of the British note on reparations tonight. On Thursday according to a semi-official announcement the government instructed the German ambassador at London that in effect, no German government would be expected to suggest to the population of "illegally occupied areas" to abandon passive resistance before adequate guarantees were given that those areas would be evacuated in the shortest possible time.

WANTS SPEED OF AUTOS REGULATED

BURLINGTON, Iowa, July 27.—Sheriff Delbert Murray of Burlington and Representative Howard Mathews of Danville, Ill., today announced plans for a bill to be presented to the Iowa general assembly making it unlawful to sell or otherwise dispose of any automobile in the state of Iowa that is not so geared as to prevent its going faster than 25 miles per hour. The law will be modeled upon the existing Iowa law forbidding the sale of any car that is not equipped with dimmer lenses on head lamps. This law is now operating successfully. The bill will provide for the licensing and registration of racing cars and cars used by authorities for chasing criminals.

PLAN TO CHANGE WAY OF MAKING STEEL CHARGES

Perfect Organization Combat Pittsburgh Plus Practice

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 21.—Formation of a permanent organization to combat the Pittsburgh plus practice in the steel industry and in which the states of Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois will participate, was completed here today.

A committee composed of the attorney generals of Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota and two members of the Illinois commission named by Governor Small to investigate Pittsburgh plus, will lead the fight. The committee consists of Attorney General Herman Ekern of Wisconsin, Ben J. Gibson of Iowa, Clifford L. Hilton of Minnesota and two members of the Illinois commission yet to be named. Attorney General Ekern was named secretary of the committee. It is understood one of the Illinois members to be appointed will be selected as chairman.

Postpone Hearing

The federal trade commission will be asked to postpone the date for hearing of rebuttal testimony from August 6 to December 10, it was decided to give the committee time to present further evidence against the practice in the steel industry of charging for steel at a Pittsburgh base price plus freight from Pittsburgh to destination, regardless of the point of origin of the shipment.

A committee of university professors representing the four states was named to study the economic aspects of the matter. The date for the next meeting will be decided later.

It was reported at the meeting today that a $40,000,000 steel plant is being planned at Hammond, Ind., if the practice is abolished. It was also announced that Mayor Dever of Chicago had ordered an investigation to determine how Chicago could cooperate in the campaign.

EASTERN CITY IS VISITED BY MOST DISASTROUS FIRE

Started with Bonfire in Rear of Skating Rink

(By The Associated Press)
SALAMACA, N. Y., July 21.—Following a trail of flaring oil and gasoline and driven by a strong west wind, the most disastrous fire in the history of the city swept thru the business and residential districts today, to subside only after having reduced a wide swath in the downtown section to charred ruins. Damage was variously estimated tonight from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The fire started with a bonfire in the rear of an abandoned skating rink which was used for automobile storage. The flames followed a trail of oil to the gasoline tanks of a nearby garage. They spread to other garages clustered in the business district and within a few minutes the fire was beyond control. The fire departments of Salem, N. Y., and Bradford, Pa., responded and forces of volunteer fire fighters were rushed from Ellipticville and Little Valley.

The fire had been burning for more than three hours when it was brought under control at 6 o'clock. Several persons were taken to the city hospital suffering from burns and cuts from falling debris but none was believed injured seriously. Several firemen were overcome by smoke and heat.

MUSSOLINI RECEIVES VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

(By The Associated Press)
ROME, July 21.—The chamber of deputies tonight passed the electoral reform law, 223 votes to 123. It then adjourned sine die.

Debate on the electoral reform bill began in the chamber a week ago, Premier Mussolini making an impassioned speech in its defense against strong attacks by the opposition. Later he won a vote of confidence with a margin of 163 votes.

The bill changes the system under which the present chamber is chosen. By it proportional representation is abolished and the party receiving the most votes will be given two-thirds of the 312 seats in the chamber. The effect is to make one constituency out of the entire country instead of 55.

Mrs. Bert Hall and daughter, of the northwest part of the county were city arrivals yesterday.

LAST BOTTLE FOR LAST MAN OF LAST MAN CLUB PUZZLES

Reunion Held of Members of Famous Last Man Club—Organized 39 Years Ago—Wine Obtained at the First Meeting is to Be Used by the Last Surviving Member

(By The Associated Press)
STILLWATER, Minn., July 21.—Peter Hall, Atwater, Minn., oldest member of the Last Man's Club, which held its annual reunion here today, was elected president of the organization, to succeed Adam Marty, organizer and president of the club, who died last winter.

Only three members of the surviving four of the famous club which originated 39 years ago when 34 members of the Company B, Minnesota Volunteers met on the anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run. A bottle of wine obtained at the first meeting, it was agreed, is to be drunk by the last member.

Mr. Hall accepted the presidency with a short expression of gratitude and then spoke of something which has been bothering him for a long time.

"Our constitution provides," he said, "that when all but one of our members are dead, the last man shall attend the annual banquet on the anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run as usual and with this bottle of wine which has been kept intact since 1886 drink a toast to his dead comrades. With this rite he will close the books of The Last Man Club."

"But it has occurred to me, as perhaps it has to you, that that last banquet would be a very sad occasion. Each banquet for many years has been saddened by the rapid inroads of death and I want to make a suggestion which we can consider for another year and decide upon our next meeting. That is that we change our constitution so that the last two men shall drink the toast and break up the club."

Question of Disposal

The question of the disposition of the bottle then came up and several schemes were suggested. One of these was that the bottle be sealed in a glass case and presented to the Minnesota State Historical Society, but the one that seemed to meet with the greatest approval was that after the last toast has been drunk the bottle with the remaining wine be sealed and presented to the Stillwater Post of the American Legion, which is to form a similar Last Man Club and that it is to be passed on and on until, if ever, the nations of the world combine to make all war impossible.

A problem of considerable importance was created when Mr. Hall was elected president. Mr. Hall had been secretary of the club when he was elevated to the chair it became necessary to elect another secretary. The choice, naturally, was between the two remaining members, John Goff, of the Minnesota Soldiers' Home, Minneapolis, nominated Charles Lockwood of Chamberlain, S. D., and Mr. Lockwood nominated Mr. Goff. The vote was to be viva voce.

FIFTH GREAT TRUNK LINE PLANS MADE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 21.—Plans for a fifth great trunk line railway to connect New York and the midwest have been worked out by officials of the New York Central railroad. It was announced tonight by President A. H. Smith. The route, approval for which will be sought from the interstate commerce commission, would be 40 miles shorter to Chicago than the present New York Central route and shorter than any of the other three trunk lines between the two cities with the exception of that of the Pennsylvania railroad company.

Airplane Bursts In Flame--Two Killed

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, MICHIGAN, July 21.—Howard Neil, proprietor of the Detroit Air Photo company, and a man believed to be Eugene Rauchard, an airplane pilot, were burned to death late this afternoon when an airplane in which they were riding burst into flames 1,000 feet in the air and crashed in the western part of Sandwich township, Ontario, about 12 miles southwest of Windsor.

The bodies were badly burned and death is believed to have come almost instantly. Identification of the bodies as made by the wife of Howard Neil, who flew to the scene of the crash in an airplane piloted by Eddie Stinson, a commercial aviator. After viewing the bodies Mrs. Neil collapsed and was removed to a Sandwich hospital.

Investigation of the crash was begun immediately by the coroner.

The Denver & Rio Grande railroad is offering to do an unusual thing for the farmers along its lines. The road has proposed in view of the difficult crop situation to lend the farmers money for a six months period. The offer at any rate shows both the good spirit on the part of the railroad management and further that the property must be in sound financial shape.

Villa, Mexican bandit, often reported dead, during the past five or six years, has been killed from ambush. The news this time is well authenticated. Not a great many years will be shed over this death when it is remembered the almost countless crimes in which Villa's treachery had part.

At any rate the lumber dealers should be heartily in favor of the plan of storing 200,000,000 bushels of wheat in bins on farms of the U. S. Withholding this much wheat would help out the market price and will certainly mean the building of thousands of new storage bins.

VICTORY THAT COUNTS
Victory is what the American Magazine is interested in," wrote John M. Siddall, late editor of that magazine. Victory for the individual over the odds that beset him. There are all kinds—sickness, lack of education, opportunity or money, environment, bad habits, absurd weaknesses, every sort of mental, physical and spiritual barrier of "The Pilgrim's Progress." Money is one of the counters in the game, but only one.

Victory of this sort is what the American citizen is interested in, too. And it is one of the promises of a living democracy that money is only a counter in the game of life, and but one of many counters.

Although there are many items of the library's former collection, which can never be replaced, there is still much saved. And there are historical value and beauty to be found in the rebuilt edifice.

A great many persons outside of Belgium have contributed to this restoration. American school children in great numbers gave generously to the work. In the exercises at the opening of the first completed wing an American presented the library with a book containing the names of the subscribing boys and girls.

At the same time the French minister of education presented a volume of 80 photographs of the ruins of Rheims Cathedral. These two records alone form a glowing appeal for peace. Little children, contributing their pennies to construct destruction wrought by fighting men—the one pictures the hope of civilization and of humanity itself; the other shows the cruelty and folly of war.

A REST FROM LAWMAKING
"I think," wrote Anthony Trollope 70 years ago, "the country would do uncommonly well if it were to know that no old law would be altered or new law made for the next 20 years."

From this statement it was easy to conclude that the novelist was incorrigibly conservative and that he regarded the England of 1850 as a pretty good land in which to live. His point of view is reminiscent of the old Greek device which aimed to prevent hasty legislation by providing the death penalty for the proposer of a law which did not meet with public approval. He might not have voted to ostracize Aristides because he was tired of hearing him called "The Just," but he might well have taken that stand in the cases of those who cry out for "social justice" and believe that their recipes for it, once enacted into statute, will put the world on the high-road to the millennium.

The last 20 years of our national life have seen myriads of laws and ordinances added to the statute books of the nation, the several states and their political subdivisions. But very few of us could be persuaded that the daily life of many of us has been rendered more secure, or the average of personal happiness greatly improved. Human progress is slow, at best, and precious little of it can be traced to the legislation of any age.

As a people we grope toward almost as many ideals as there are individuals—and our law making shows it. Perhaps a good long rest would bring us to a better understanding of what we really need, and want.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT AT FAIR PROMISING

This department for 1923 should fill the seventy by one hundred and ten foot tent with 500 standard bred fowls. The cash premiums offered are equal to any in this or any other state. The cooping is free. The entry fees of ten cents for single birds, and twenty-five cents for pens, and one dollar for the season ticket is a mere trifle, when compared with the liberal premiums offered on all standard classes, and special sweepstake prizes of $5.00 first; $2.50 for second and $1.00 for third. The regular single entry premiums are $1.50 for first; $1.00 for second and 50 cents for third, and the same on pens of five, one male and four females.

Fen birds cannot compete in singles. Pens must consist of either all old birds or all young. Over $600 is thus offered, with equal offerings in the boys and girls classes under eighteen. Morgan and surrounding counties has many breeders of the most popular breeds and varieties. These exhibits gives opportunity to all not only to win prizes, but also the cheapest and best method of letting the poultry buying public know who has the standard fowls and eggs to sell.

Morgan County Poultry Association will furnish the cooping, which will be the latest and best steel wire coops in the market. Entries are open to the world, the only restrictions being that no exhibitor can show but three breeds or varieties. This rule is to protect the breeders of standard poultry against shenanigans. Entries fall from fair to fair with car loads of good, bad, and indifferent lots of fowls. Prepare your birds now for August 28th to 31st, 1923.

CHESS AND THE DAYS OF ANTIQUITY

(By John Keenan)

The article on chess and "the king of chess players" in a recent issue was interesting to me, not because I am a player, but because of the antiquity of the game, and its literary associations. I wonder if any of its "fans" know hold old the game is, or where it originated. To tell the truth, perhaps nobody knows. But there is to be found in the Shah-Nameh, the national epic of Persia, an episode that is interesting as a story as well as historical testimony.

The Shah-Nameh was composed by Firdusi, the poet commissioned by Mahmoud to draw up the annals of Persia something over eight hundred years ago. From this account we are to infer that the game is near a thousand years old, that it originated in India, and was played very much the same as it is played today. Even the names of the pieces were the same, with the exception of "elephant-of-war" (bishops) and "war-steeds" (knights) and heroes (rooks). The story goes that:

The king one day received an ambassador from one of his tributaries, a rajah in India, accompanied by a thousand camels, elephants and cavalry, and bringing loads of rich gifts. Among the gifts was an elaborate chessboard, and a letter, suggesting to the king that he summon secrets of the game. He further intimated that, if they failed to discover them, since they were not therefore strong enough to compete with the others in wisdom, that they should no longer desire to collect tribute from India, but—

Rather long we to receive tribute from you. Since knowledge hath a title beyond all else.

The king was given seven days to find out the science of the game. On the eighth he was to play the game with the ambassador, to prove that he had mastered its secrets. But the king's efforts were futile, until one of his wise men, Burzakhmabar by name, declared that he would undertake it. After a whole day and night of moving the pieces hither and thither, he solved the mystery, and elucidated it to the king—

You would say at once without hesitation.

It is the exact image of a battle-field.

The ambassador was next summoned, and the chess-board put before him. Then Burzakhmabar arranged the pieces upon the board—

Giving to the King the place in the center.

Placing the foot-soldiers in front of the battle.

A prudent vizier he stationed beside the King.

To give him advice on the plan of the engagement.

On each side he set the elephants of war.

To support one another in the midst of the combat.

And so on, till the field was complete. But the ambassador was dumfounded—that this man, never having seen a chess-board before, seemingly had had a revelation as to the whole intent and purpose of the game.

And Khosru was so proud of Burzakhmabar.

Thou mightest say he was looking Fortune in the face.

He was gladdened at the heart, and loaded him with caresses.

And ordered him a more than ordinary dress of honor.

And commanded him to be given a royal cup.

Filled to the brim with princely jewels.

And a quantity of money, and a charger and a saddle.

And dismissed him from the presence overwhelmed with praises.

J. T. Ellis of the Journal force and son E. C. Ellis formerly of the firm of Brady Bros., will go today to Oak Lodge cottage at Lake Matanzas. They will be joined later in the week by the Stold family.

SCOTT COUNTY JUDGE TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Hon. Milton Riggs of Winchester to Deliver Centennial Address During Chautauqua Here.

The directors of the Jacksonville chautauqua are glad to announce that Hon. Milton Riggs of Scott county has consented to deliver the centennial address on the occasion of the observance of Morgan county's centennial, August 22. This day will be observed as an old settlers' day and it is hoped that the program will attract a large number of the older residents of Morgan, Cass and Scott counties.

There is a peculiar fitness in having Judge Riggs of Winchester deliver the centennial address. He is the oldest practicing lawyer in the three counties. He has always resided within the Morgan county territory. He knew Lincoln, Douglas, John Moses, William Thomas, and all of the men who have helped make history in this section of the state.

Judge Riggs served two terms in the U. S. congress, served in the Illinois legislature, has been sheriff and county judge of his county and has been a lawyer of large and extensive practice.

It is an announcement of more than ordinary interest that Judge Riggs has accepted the invitation of the Jacksonville chautauqua to be its guest on the occasion of the Morgan county centennial observance and deliver the centennial address.

BARN AND SHEDS BURNED YESTERDAY

A big barn and three sheds went up in smoke on the John Tompkins farm west of the city about sunrise yesterday morning. Aside from the buildings themselves the greatest loss was probably that of a Studebaker automobile that belonged to Calvin Lawson, a son-in-law of Mr. Tompkins.

At one time the residence itself was in danger, the roof catching fire, but the heroic efforts made by the farmer and his help stopped the blaze and saved the house.

It is not known what caused the fire but the auto is not blamed as when first sighted the flames came from a portion of the barn a good distance from it. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

A BIRD LOVER

Miss Ann Jackson is continuing her good work with helpless birds, her last adoption being a little warbling Vireo. In some respects it is one of the smartest creatures she has adopted. She hasn't liberated it yet but takes choice care of it and in due time will send it out into the world.

"Christopher," the bird of the woodpecker family, mentioned a few weeks ago, is now free but each morning about five he alights on the sill of his friend's window and announces his readiness for breakfast which he never fails to get. During the day Miss Jackson goes out into the yard and calls him by name and if about he will alight on her shoulder.

Miss Jackson is especially anxious that no one will disturb him in any way and he will be likely to stay about all the year. The sentiment toward birds is improving at any rate and the little creatures are generally free from molestation by human beings.

RUSH INSANE MAN HERE FROM JERSEY

Tommy Sullivan, veteran horse-swipe, who was being held in Jersey county jail at Jerseyville for insanity, recently tried to burn down the jail building and ride away to freedom on a phantom horse that he claimed would come at his call. The imprisoned man, told the other prisoners to get out of the way and went thru a pantomime of riding a horse on the race track. When a fire on the floor was started the prisoners thought it time to interfere and put the slight blaze out. The Sheriff was away at the time of the events narrated above.

The man, who became suddenly insane recently showed off his ghastly steeds in the court room at his trial and urged his horse which he called "Dynamite" to carry him to the wire in the lead. He is now confined in the Jacksonville State hospital.

What is Home?

A few years ago a London magazine sent out one thousand inquiries on the question: "What is home?" Eight hundred replies were received, out of which the following gems were carefully selected:

Home—a world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in.

Home—a place where the small are great, and the great are small.

Home—the father's kingdom, the mother's world and the children's paradise.

Home—the place where we grumble the most and are loved the best.

Home—the center of affection around which our hearts' best wishes twine.

Home—the place where our stomachs get three meals a day and our hearts get a thousand.

Home—the place on earth where the faults and failings of humanity are hidden under the sweet mantle of charity.

FORTY YEARS WITH ONE UNIVERSITY

This Is Record of Professor S. A. Forbes of University of Illinois and Oldest on Payroll of State

URBANA, Ill. (By A. P.)—A "preparatory college course" obtained amid the vermin and misery of a Confederate Civil war prison, forms the background of the remarkable career of Prof. Stephen A. Forbes of the University of Illinois, the only Civil War veteran on the university faculty and perhaps the oldest person on the payroll of the state.

When classes start next fall, Prof. Forbes will begin his 40th year as an instructor of the university. Master in a dead language and absorbing classical learning in the midst of the excitement and pains of war, are feats indicating the nature of the mentality which has enabled him to crown these 40 years with brilliant accomplishment.

Was Captain of Cavalry
At 20, Stephen A. Forbes was a captain of cavalry. He was born May 9, 1844 at Silver Creek, Ill. He was getting ready for college when the war broke out.

YOU, too, may be more attractive. It is the blood that circulates thru your body and comes to the skin that makes the "glow." It is the rich blood that clears away pimples, skin eruptions and makes the skin youthful and clear. It is rich blood that feeds the flesh and rounds out the body naturally.

Then why not use this simple reasonable way to have more strength and more vitality and attractiveness that follows?

S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, body-builders and blood-cleansers of all time. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable.

S. S. S., because of its blood-building powers, is a remarkable builder of firm flesh. It fills out hollow cheeks and beautifies the complexion as thousands of men and women can testify.

S. S. S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

and, as he said, "drove all such ideas out of my mind." But the college idea quickly returned when he found himself a captive in a Confederate prison. He had planned to become an instructor in languages, so when he was taken prisoner he bought a Greek grammar at Mobile, Ala., and studied this thru all the weary months he was incarcerated.

Later, after he had been released, and while his regiment lay in camp for some weeks idle because of the lack of horses, he bought a set of Spanish books at Memphis and learned to read them fairly well before the regiment got its mounts.

"Then, too," said Prof. Forbes in reminiscing over Civil War days, "it was as easy to carry a little book in one's saddle bags as a pack of cards, and to read, or even study, by the camp fire while one smoked was a profitable recreation which I still remember with delight."

Started in 1884
Dr. Forbes came to the university in 1884 as professor of geology, and served in that chair until 1909. That year he was made professor of entomology, having been the Illinois state entomologist since 1882. In 1917 he was made chief of the state natural history survey which position he still retains.

In 1877, he founded and has since been the director of the Illinois state laboratory of natural history. In 1884 he founded the Illinois biological station and became its director.

He is the author of 28 studies of the food of birds and fishes and of the food and contagious diseases of insects. Because of the work he did in this state, the merit of which was recognized all over the country, he has at several times headed investigational commissions which delved into the natural phenomena bearing on the life and habits of birds, fish and insects. He has also made a life study of the stream pollution, and is an international authority on destruction of animal life thru water contamination. He is recognized as one of the best writers and judges of good English on the campus.

Traces Career
All of these attainments may be traced back in some fashion, Prof. Forbes believes, to his prison days. Writing of this experience, he drew a picture of life in the prison and incidentally displayed his power of written expression.

"There was a devoted little group," he said, "who gave their days and their nights to desperate and melancholy service in the wretched, vermin-haunted hospital; and there were those who lived solitary and self-centered in the midst of the suffering of the multitude. There were some who made a jest of everything, and grew fat with good humor although half starved for food; and there were others who mourned their fate and longed for home; lost strength and courage, fell off in flesh and presently were dead."

"We had no news from any where; we had no idea whether we should live or die; we were an isolated band of lost men, gentlemen, ruffians, saints, villains, scholars, fools and a much larger number who were none of these things, but just average young Americans—all, however, on perfectly equal footing of uniform misery."

"It was in this hard place that some of us youngsters 'found ourselves'—to use a modern phrase; and it was here, as I afterward often told, that the green, reserved silent introverted, and unobservant country boy became a man, and here that he learned to understand and appreciate other men, until that time a ridicule to him."

Replace Washington and Lincoln and Lee and Roosevelt on the pedestals now usurped, in the average boy-mind, by Charley Chaplin, Al Jolson, Raymond Hitchcock, Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey. The towering figures of American history were heroes not so long ago, and the Chautauqua is the best medium known to put them back in the affections of our young people.

We want no blue-laws. We want no boys and girls who are all work and no play. What we would like is the healthy chautauqua combination of education and fun. It is a normal combination. It is clean. It is satisfying. In it are the seeds of a higher citizenship than can possibly sprout under the system amid which the young folks of today are growing up. If there were a commander-in-chief of the insubstantial forces of the United States, he could do his country no greater service than to issue the general order—"Chautauqua to the front."

MODERN PARK COVERS SITE OF BRITISH FORT

Modern Pavilion Built to Shelter Seekers for the Open

METROPOLIS, Ill.—(By The A. P.)—On the spot which was once a famous British fort at the outer edge of civilization, the state of Illinois has built near here a modern park and playground. Where the crude walls of Fort Massac once stood there is now a modern pavilion built to shelter tourists, campers and the seekers for the open in general.

Fort Massac Park is in Massac county, on the Ohio river, not far from this city. It is historically significant. It offered the opening wedge by which George Rogers Clark entered and conquered from the British the expansive northwest territory composing the present states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, and parts of Michigan and Minnesota.

An Intrepid Explorer. This intrepid explorer navigated down the Ohio to Fort Massac, captured the garrison and then proceeded overland 120 miles with a handful of hardy woodsman soldiers from Virginia, to Kaskaskia and Vincennes, wresting from the English those posts which marked the end of foreign domination.

Historical accounts have it that site was first visited by DeSota in the year 1549, when it was used as a temporary fortress against the Indians. Aaron Burr also stopped at this point in 1805 while en route to the south to establish an empire which was to have absorbed the American Republic, with Burr at its head.

The fort itself, built by Captain Charles Phillips Aubrey, sent from New Orleans, to care for French interests against encroachments of the British. Leaving Fort Chartres on May 10, 1751, Aubrey reached Massac the same year and drove the first stake on Ascension Day; hence the stronghold first bore the name of Fort Ascension. The fort was captured in 1765 by the English who held it 13 years until its fall before George Rogers Clark. In 1794, the old black house was rebuilt by order of President George Washington as a protection for American settlers who began pushing westward in great numbers.

Origin of Name Unknown. The origin of the name Fort Massac, has not been determined. A legend recounts a massacre by Indians during French occupancy and the taking of the name Fort Massac. The Indians, so the story goes, appeared on what is now the Kentucky side of the river garbed in bear skins and crawling on their hands and knees. Soldiers of the garrison quickly crossed the river to make a killing. In their absence, a party of Indians fell on the unprotected settlement, murdering every inhabitant and setting fire to the buildings. The state purchased the site in 1903 and has done everything to preserve the historic spot. The ruins of the old earthworks, showing the shape of the block houses, is still there, and a monument has been erected to George Rogers Clark.

NEW YORK HEN HAS BIG LAYING RECORD

Springfield—A barred rock hen owned by W. H. Kent of Cazenovia, N. Y., laid 29 eggs in June topping the list of entries in the state egg laying contest at Quincy. The highest pen was one of five hens entered by H. B. Hammer of Weaver, Ia., which produced 113 eggs for the month.

At Murphysboro, a white leg-horn owned by Northland Farms of Grand Rapids, Mich., and a barred rock owned by Leonard Brantley of Murphysboro, tied with 26 eggs.

On the whole so far this year the egg production in the two states contests shows an increase according to the report of State Poultryman C. P. Scott, Mr. Scott said:

"The pen totals this month decreased for two causes—broodiness and terrific heat. Some days the thermometer registered as high as 160 percent in the houses. Egg prices continue to be low average only 20 cents per dozen. We have decided to inoculate every bird in the coming contest as a preventative against roup, chicken pox and kindred diseases. We would like to see our coming contest evenly divided as to numbers in the different classes. As it stands now the Mediterraneans are in the majority. Our increase in egg production over last year pleases us and as the general health of the birds in the contests is good we hope for a continuation of the good work.

RAILROAD "Y" MAN RETURNS TO IDAHO

Victor Vieira Leaves Tonight for Pocatella — Tells of Life in Thriving Western City, Which is on Verge of Government Boom.

Victor E. Vieira, who has been visiting relatives in this city expects to leave this evening for Pocatella, Idaho, to resume his work as physical director in the railroad Y. M. C. A. at that place. Mr. Vieira has been attending a conference at Lake Geneva, Wis. He expects to stop at several points en route to Pocatella.

The visitor says the railroad "Y" has about 2,000 adult members and 800 boys. A regular day and night hotel is run in connection with the association activities, and about 300 railroad men lodge there every night. Pocatella is a city of about 20,000, which includes a floating population of about 2,000. This is due to the great railroad activities centered there.

At present the government is beginning the construction of the American Falls dam on the Snake river not far from Pocatella. More than $6,000,000 has been appropriated for this work, which is intended to reclaim thousands of acres of arid land in the vicinity. The construction of the dam will mean much business for Pocatella. The city has a large Mormon population, with six Mormon churches. Practically all the houses are modern, and every convenience of cities farther east is enjoyed here.

Mr. Vieira thinks the west more progressive and the people more frank and less sophisticated than in the east, altho he says that in the years he has been a resident of the west, he has noticed the ways of the east slowly creeping westward.

Mr. Vieira is a native of Jacksonville and received his education here.

Heilmann and Hornsby Top League Hitters

CHICAGO, July 21. (By A. Jamieson is hitting at a .379 clip, while Heilmann, suffering a four point loss during the past week, is leading the race with .366. The averages are of players who have participated in 50 or more games.

Ruth, in his marathon with the National League home run clout, had a better week than his rival, cracking out three circuit blows while Williams bagged one. Williams is leading with 23 while Ruth has 22. The Yankee star had increased his total base record to 205 and as a run-getter, boosted his total to 84.

Eddie Collins added another base to his string, and is showing the way to the major league base stealers with 28 thefts. He also is leading the league in sacrifice hits with 26.

Cy Williams, leading home run hitter of the majors, is holding the margin by one circuit blow, his total being 23, while Babe Ruth of the American League has 22. The Philadelphia National slugger added only one four base blow to his string, but he ran his total base record to 179 bases.

CHICAGO TAKES TWO GAMES FROM BOSTON

Cvengros Was in Fine Form in the Opener and Robertson and Ferguson Engaged in Pitching Duel in the Second Game Which Went Ten Innings

CHICAGO, July 21.—Chicago won both games of a double header from Boston today, 8 to 1 and 2 to 1, the second game going 10 innings. Mike Cvengros pitched in fine form in the opener, while the White Sox bunched their hits. The second game was a pitching duel between Robertson and Ferguson, which terminated when Eddie Collins tripled in the tenth and scored on Sheely's hit.

MAJORITY PICKING LEONARD TO WIN

INDEES EXPECTING HARD TUSSELE TODAY

Manager Smith Looks for Fast Game With Myers Brothers Nine—Pitchers May Stage Close Battle.

Manager Smith feels that the Indians have strenuous times staring them in the face if they are able to cop the bacon in today's game with the fast stepping Myers Brothers team of Springfield, and if they are able to make the proper showing in the game next Thursday at Roodhouse against a picked team from all parts of the state.

Today's game is liable to develop into a tight battle between pitchers as both Dove and Fanning are among the best in their class, and aside from the pitchers the teams seem to be very evenly balanced. Smith has secured Boyd from the Thayer team which was recently disbanded to play the position of shortstop. On account of "Kissie's" injury, Ruble will cover left field.

Next Thursday the Roodhouse boys will be loaded to the guards with imported talent. They will use Hartman in the box and will have some players from Alton and several other places in an effort to win. Jacksonville should be proud of a team that can scare their opponents into strengthening for a game with them; shows class, and the home boys have been showing it lately.

In this afternoon's game the teams will line up as follows: Myers Brothers—Richard, cf; Albers, 1b; Wattins, ss; Allowell, c; Fernandes, 2b; Kervin, lf; Moakley 3b; Mockbee, rf; Dove, pitcher.

Indees—Massinkoff, cf; Wheeler 1b; Ruble, lf; Kohlert 2b; DeFratres, 3b; Henderson, rf; Clark c, Fanning, pitcher.

LOCAL ELKS PLAN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Official appointment has been made of a committee of five to arrange for an Elks Golf Tournament, said committee being C. S. Copp, F. R. Rantz, C. Justice Wright, F. E. Farrell and T. W. Beadle.

The committee will meet early this week and make all necessary arrangements for this tournament. There are eighty-five members of the Elks Club who play golf and it is very probable that two tournaments will be arranged, one for open championship and one handicap tournament.

Every member of the Elks club who plays the game will be assigned to a match, in the open championship tournament, the names being drawn at random, and the scores made in this tournament will be turned in and used in part as a basis on which to figure the handicaps in the Handicap tournament to be held later. Arrangements will be made at the Elks Club to have a large display board on the wall showing assignment of the players to the different matches and the result of the match.

TAX OBJECTIONS FILED IN COUNTY COURT

Railroads and Group of Individual Property Owners Object to Certain Taxes.

Tax objections have been filed in the Morgan county court by the C. B. & Q., the Wabash, the Chicago & Alton and the C. P. & St. L. railroads. Objections have also been filed by a number of persons owning land in the south part of the county.

The objections by these individual property owners result from the litigation between the Manchester and Murrayville community high school districts. The Chicago & Alton railroad objects to certain taxes levied for county purposes and for county highway, to other taxes levied in the city of Jacksonville, and in road districts 1, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 13, totalling $1,175.31.

It is alleged that the rate extended for county and county highway purposes is in excess of that authorized by law, and the same claim is made with reference to certain city taxes, and the objections as to the road districts are based upon various alleged errors in the amounts of the levies or the manner in which they were made.

Some of the taxes to which the Wabash Railway Company makes objection are the county and county highway tax of $258.58; city of Jacksonville $103.93; certain taxes in road districts 4, 5, 6, and 8, and in school districts No. 35, 84, 95 and 108.

With reference to certain school taxes, it is alleged that the levy was not made and certified to the township treasurer on the date required by law. The amounts of the school district taxes mentioned range from $117.66 to $117.32.

The objections of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad and of the C. P. & St. L. are along the same general lines.

In objections filed by the Morgan county land owners it is shown that they have paid all of the taxes levied against their land with the exception of those levied by the Manchester community high school district No. 121, and by the Murrayville community high school district No. 123, both districts being organized for the same purpose, occupying the same territory and both claiming the lands of the objectors as part of their districts.

The land owners interested are J. C. Andras, H. G. Strang, J. O. Garner, Virdean Wagstaff, John O. Hayes, Albert O. Hayes, Fannie Curtis, J. L. Thady, Newton Brown, W. E. Masters, F. J. Robinson, J. E. Osborne, Meda Strang, Andras, A. M. Masters, Lulu Masters, Bertha M. Miller, Margaret Reid, Marie C. Mason, Lucinda Jones, Ernest Murray, M. L. Robinson, J. C. Robinson.

In the tax objection cases the C. & A., the C. B. & Q. and the Morgan county land owners are represented by William T. Wilson and the Wabash, the C. P. & St. L. railroads by John A. Bellatti and Paul D. Moriarity.

DIFFERENCES ARISE IN INTERPRETATION NEWEST DIVORCE LAW

Just How Far its Application Goes is a Question

SPRINGFIELD.—(By the Associated Press).—A point of legal interpretation has arisen over the bill passed by the 53rd general assembly affecting marriage and divorce.

There seems little doubt that the new law will permit persons divorced in the future to remarry immediately if they desire, in the opinion of most lawyers. To this extent the law repeals the provision of the law of 1874 which forbade marriage within a year after divorce. Little doubt also is expressed but that the law legitimizes marriages which already have been contracted within a year after divorce.

But there is doubt in some legal minds whether the new law permits remarriage within the year of persons who have been divorced less than a year prior to the passage of the act but have not yet remarried. For instance, if Mr. A. was divorced last January and had not yet married again, the question has arisen, may he not marry before the year is up?

Marriages Legitimized.

The reason the law would not seem to apply to him is because his divorce decree specially prohibits him from marrying within a year. The law does specifically legitimize marriages that already have been contracted within the old ban, but it does not mention the person who has been divorced but not yet married within the year.

This question is puzzling attorneys of the attorney general's office. Many requests for an interpretation of the new act have come to the attorney general, especially from county clerks who are receiving applications for marriage licenses from divorced persons. The unofficial opinion in the attorney general's office is that while the law apparently doesn't apply to the person whose post-divorce year is not yet up and who has not remarried, yet it is believed under a liberal interpretation it might be made to include this person to carry out the intent of the legislature.

An Apparent Favor.

"The law apparently favors the persons who have not complied with the old law and penalizes those who have upheld the law," said Judge Albert D. Rodenberg, assistant attorney general. "It repeals the old prohibition against marriages within a year and makes those legal that have been contracted, but it says nothing about the people who have not yet married within the year."

The entire law is one of the briefest ever passed by the legislature. Its two sections are as follows:

"Section 1. Section 1a of 'An Act to revise the law in relation to divorce,' approved March 10, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, is

Marriages Validated.

"Section 2. In all cases where a marriage has been contracted in violation of the provision of Section 1a of 'An Act to revise the law in relation to divorce,' approved March 10, 1874, as amended, except where either of the contracting parties has, subsequent to said marriage, and prior to the taking effect of this act, entered into another marriage contract which was and is legal and binding under the laws of Illinois, said marriage so contracted in violation of said Section 1a, if otherwise legal, are hereby validated and conformed, except that property rights heretofore vested shall not be affected by this Act."

This beats by an hour and a half a record established by a local resident for the same trip some time ago. The young men took turns in driving the car, so that none would become so tired that the speed of the car might be impaired.

ANOTHER WAR COMING ARMY MAN PREDICTS

Col. P. W. Corbuser, who recently returned from Europe, says Germany is able to pay—Expects War in Two Years.

There will be war in Europe within two years, according to a statement made last night by Lieutenant-Colonel P. W. Corbuser, of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, who stopped in the city for a few hours Saturday evening.

The Colonel is just back from a trip to Europe of several months duration, during which he visited Germany and other nations. "The Germans are well able to pay," he stated. "France knows it, the German government knows it, and the German people know it. The reason why the French are not successful in collecting payment by holding the Ruhr is not because Germany is a pauper, but because France has not enough men to argue successfully with the teutons on the question. Germany was untouched by the war, its industries are in good working order, and the people are well fed and clothed. France saw great destruction during the four years of fighting, she lost millions of her best man power, her industries are not thriving as in pre-war days. Every where in Germany that I went the people were spending money with great gusto, filling the cafes, theatres, and railroad trains, throwing their marks right and left in a fashion that the citizens of no other country, a country without a huge debt hanging over its head, would do. Yes, the Germans could pay in a minute if they wanted to, but of course they will never want to."

"I consider war dangerously near and confidently expect it within the next two years. If England and the United States would but give France moral support, if no other, the Ruhr situation would be closed definitely and on the other side of the allies. Why does England not give her support? Because she is intent on world commercial domination and cannot have it without Germany's aid. She would prefer to chance a terrible war rather than lose any of her well known 'pounds sterling.'"

Colonel Corbuser was then asked his opinion of the League of Nations, and of the World Court. He replied: "I do not think that the League of Nations, as we know it, is a thing for eventual good. The World Court is equally impossible of good work."

"Everywhere in Germany the people, not only the middle and upper classes but the proletariat, are eager for the return of the monarchy. I asked some of them if they would like 'Mr.' Hohenzollern to return. They answered: 'He is a back number, but the Crown Prince would be very acceptable.' When the Colonel was asked what he thought made the Germans so 'King Mad' he said: 'They have been under an absolute rule for so long that it has entered into every fibre of their being and they want nothing else than to be ordered by some despot to obey him.'"

He concluded the interview by saying: "In the trip to Germany that I took I was accompanied by an American of German birth, and I believe that he was a better American by far than some who have no Teutonic blood in their veins. He wanted no sympathy on the Germans, and told them, his own relatives, exactly what he thought of them as a nation and as individuals for trying to dodge the debts contracted by their insane folly of world domination."

Present Day Giants

A few days ago President Rammelkamp received an unusual request. G. W. Nash, President of the Congregational Foundation for Education, wrote asking that Dr. Rammelkamp furnish him with at least one "human interest" story, this story to be a sketch of the life of some Illinois College alumnus who had by personal effort overcome the handicap of financial limitations, working his way through college and later achieving success and recognition in his chosen work. Immediately, those who knew of the request began to recall such students, to tell of their heroic struggles and sacrifices to obtain an education, and of the real success and honors that had come to many of them. It was fascinating to hear these recitals and one thrilled to remember that "there were giants in those days."

Then came the question: How about students today? Are there now any men or women of such determination and energy?

That question could be asked only by one who is not in touch with the present situation. Some may not know it, but it is a fact that last year there was no hour of the day or night that some Illinois College student was not "on the job" earning money to pay for his education. Some worked forenoons, some afternoons, many in the evening, a few until midnight or even one-third in the morning, others beginning at three in the morning, while at least one had an all-night job.

Doubtless those who saw and knew them failed to recognize that they are the giants of our day and the men and women we shall be proud to claim in years to come.

Acquaintance with present and prospective students reveals many interesting stories of those now working and saving for next year's college expenses.

One young man who finished high school a year ago in debt, taught last year and is now working on a farm, intends to begin freshman work in Illinois College this fall. He needs a chance to earn. Several girls will continue their college work on the basis of money earned this summer, but it is not enough. A young man who has established a record as a superior and promising student is earning money by working in the shops.

Another working strenuously as a salesman—striving for double success, in order not only that he may continue his own college work but that he may make it possible for his sister to enter. Present agricultural conditions are responsible for much of this necessity to earn. One boy who is helping his father on the farm writes that he can have money from home to pay for his tuition and books but would like to work in a store enough to pay for board and to take care of a furnace for his room. Two boys (with experience) want places in a dairy to earn their way through Illinois College. Three girls are anxiously hoping that good homes may be found where they can earn board and room.

And so the list might go on, covering scores of cases of boys and girls eager for an opportunity to earn a part or all of their college expenses.

Through the generous help of many friends, Illinois College has a very substantial scholarship fund—the income from permanent endowments given for this purpose. Until this year this fund has been ample, but a fifty percent increase enrollment in three years with only a small increase in scholarship endowment has made it necessary for the scholarship committee to refuse to grant requests for help from many really needy and deserving applicants. In a few cases it has been possible to secure special gifts to help where the regular fund could not meet the need, such gifts being used to aid particularly promising young men and women in obtaining the training necessary for the greatest possible life service. In these ways many people have played, and can play, a very important part in the lives of young people who are immensely worth while.

Making opportunity possible for the young men and women who will prove themselves the leaders of the future, having a share in their life stories, is "something more than a good investment—its influence is vastly more far-reaching," and it is an influence in which Jacksonville people may have a share.

BROKEN WHEEL LEADS TO LIQUOR SEIZURE

Morgan County Deputies Arrest Several on Hard Road When Bottles of Boozie Are Found in Two Autos—Stalled Car Attracted Officers' Attention

Saturday afternoon about 5:40 o'clock, Deputies Henry Strawn, Edgar Jones and Carl Ryan encountered a car with a wheel broken down on the hard road about one mile west of Arnold. On investigation of the car and contents it was found that the occupants were thoroughly prepared for the present drought by carrying a full quart of irrigating fluid, sometimes called "conversation water."

The deputies waited for the tourists to repair their car so they could view the interior of some of the noted buildings of Morgan county, and while they were waiting a second car containing members of the same party arrived and as they also were prepared for snake-bite with a quart of the old standard remedy, on the insistence of the deputies they also accepted an invitation to view Jacksonville from the "inside."

Those arrested gave the following names: Charles and Hugh Daugherty of 1622 South West Grand avenue, Springfield; Andy Daugherty, Jr., John Dudek, William Daugherty, and Andrew Daugherty, Sr., of Auburn. On account of there being two women and four or five children in the party Andrew Senior was allowed to go to take them back to their homes in Auburn. The rest of the party were brought to the county jail, where they are still held.

Miss Cooper will be buried in what as to have been her wedding dress.

Deceased was 22 years, 5 months and one day old at the time of her death. She is survived by her parents and three brothers, Len, Dean and Ralph Cooper. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of C. E. Williamson and Son and prepared for burial, after which they were removed to the family home at Greenfield. Miss Cooper has been for the past three years a teacher in the Pleasant Hill school near Greenfield.

ARREST COLLEGE AVENUE SPEEDER

Captain Elliott of the night police force arrested Eugene Tross at 2:45 o'clock Saturday morning when he caught him speeding on West College avenue. Tross drove his car at tremendous speed from the west end of the city to Mauvalsterre street. Captain Elliott, who was patrolling the avenue in a car, saw the speeder and gave chase. Tross was halted on Morgan street near the Woman's college, where he was arrested and taken to the station.

Yesterday morning Tross was taken before Squire A. B. Opperman and given a fine of $10 and costs. This is not the first time he has been in custody of the local police. There has been much complaint of night speeding on West College avenue. Police are on the watch for the offenders and they will be properly punished.

What will your children eat during the hot vacation days?

Too much meat in summer overheats the blood; too much starchy food often interferes with digestion.

Children must have plenty of energy-producing food, but it must be wisely chosen.

Grape-Nuts is a safe and satisfying summer food. It supplies the energizing nutriment of wheat and barley, together with the natural mineral elements which many foods lack.

Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food, crisp and delicious, easily digested and quickly assimilated.

Your grocer has interesting details of our offer of over $7500.00 for Grape-Nuts Recipes. Ask him about it TODAY; or write to Recipe Dept., Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 21.—(By The A. P.)—There are seventy-three public lakes in Illinois. ## FATHER SAYS NO BUT MOTHER MAY CHANGE HER MIND

Result of Questionnaire Given Eugenic Students

Chicago (By The Associated Press)—When father says "No" he means it, but one can most always get mother to change her mind. This is the conclusion reached by the report on the answers to a questionnaire given to 114 students of the eugenics class of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college here.

Each student was asked to state briefly one or two characteristics of father and mother, to list the tendencies she has inherited and state which of these she has had to cultivate, which to overcome and which have proven a handicap to her.

What Summary Shows.
The summary shows that 18 fathers and only 4 mothers are considered by their daughters to be firm and determined.

Fourteen girls considered their mothers very energetic while only one thinks there are thirteen fathers and no mothers who are exceptionally fair and honest, fifteen business-like fathers and only four mothers who would make good "business women."

The vote for generosity stands fifteen to nine in favor of father. Twenty fathers have a keen sense of humor while only four mothers "see the point" readily, but twenty-two mothers are patient and unselfish and only one lone father qualifies in this respect.

Fifteen fathers and two mothers have tempers which have left a decided impression, eleven fathers and nineteen mothers are nervous, three fathers and thirteen mothers are sympathetic, but there were fourteen kind fathers and not one kind mother reported.

Other Characteristics
Other outstanding characteristics which are mentioned for both fathers and mothers are: pessimism, impulsiveness, capabilities, brightness, tolerance, love of nature and home, dependability and a tendency to worry.

When it comes to the question of what tendencies daughter thinks she has inherited, twenty-five "nervous" and twenty "temper" are decidedly in the lead. These are followed by good nature, impatience, fairness, worry, generosity, lack of tact, self-consciousness, carelessness, sensitiveness, indecision and neatness.

One girl mentions naively "one of my great grandmothers disliked very much to work, and while it skipped dad, it seems to have come out again in me."

One hundred and eight have listed undesirable tendencies in answer to the question, "What tendencies, if any, have you found it necessary to overcome?" but the overcoming must have been a very successful and complete process, as only forty-three out of one hundred and fourteen students in the class consider that any of their inherited tendencies are a handicap.

RETAIL SITUATION

GLUCESTER, Mass., July 20.—Roger W. Babson, who has been visiting his parents here for a few days, issued the following statement as he left the city: "Every group of people today has its problems. Employees have their difficulties; wage workers have their struggles, and professional men have their temptations. The greatest practical problem, however, is faced by the retailers of our average community. Surely they have problems to contend with; in fact, our retailers are up against four fundamental difficulties.

"1. Increased number of retailers. Investigation fails to show a single city in the United States where during the past ten years the number of retailers has not increased at a greater rate than the population. To put it in another way, the number of retailers is increasing everywhere more rapidly than the population.

"2. Increased cost of doing business. Retailers are faced to-day with increased rents, increased wages, increased taxes, and increases in almost every department of their business. Of course this is largely a natural result of the increase in the number of retailers. For instance, in most cities the retail section is limited to a certain area, and as the demand for store space increases, rents increase also.

"3. Automobile Sales. The automobile is effecting the retailers in our large cities. During the past few years people have been getting out of the habit of using street cars and walking to the retail stores. They have been coming in automobiles. Instead, But just now as they have formed the automobile habit, the authorities come around and forbid parking in front of the best retail stores. The police authorities cannot be blamed for making these rulings, but the effect on the retail trade in the congested districts is apt to be very harmful. Already the exclusive shops in the center of the cities are losing trade, while the suburban shops are gaining trade. Automobiles are also changing the class of goods demanded so that retailers who fail to adjust their business accordingly are falling by the wayside.

"4. Chain Store Competition. Although the chain store is in its infancy, many lines of trade are already feeling the effect of chain store organizations. It is mostly felt by the grocers, shoe stores, hardware dealers, clothing stores, and other lines are gradually being forced to meet this chain store competition. Considering that it is only in its infancy, the ultimate results may be serious.

"Yet notwithstanding these four problems facing the retailers, I believe," said Mr. Babson, "that the independent retailer has a splendid opportunity if he will only organize and grasp it. There are many things which these independent retailers should do, but I will mention only four: "1. Work harder for new customers collectively for new trade. The better retailers must organize into groups for collective advertising, and general educational work. The better retailers can form groups of about fifty, which then need be only one representative of a given line in each group. It will be found that such groups can unite on sales promotion plans for new customers, and the entire fifty can get as good, if not better results, for an amount of money that it would cost one when working independently. The retailers should do more advertising, and cover with their advertising a larger territory than they did before the days of the automobile. Now every small city retailer can consider as a possible customer everyone living within a radius of forty miles. While each retailer should advertise his own business independently, yet he should be willing to join with the others in constructive and educational advertising.

"2. Give better service. Retailers must remember that they are the servants of the consumer and are not in business to gouge the consumer. The retailer whose chief interest is in his customer has a good business today and is sure to prosper in the years to come. Retailers need not worry about 'cash and carry' systems or other new fangled schemes provided they will give service. People are willing to pay for service and retailers who give real service at fair city prices enjoy real prosperity.

"3. Establish better relations with Manufacturers. One of the greatest advantages which the chain stores have in their intimate relations with the manufacturers from whom they buy their goods. It would be possible for retailers to establish such a relationship if they would only invest their money in the stocks of the company in which they buy. For instance, if a grocer, instead of buying mining, oil, and other stocks, about which he knows nothing, would invest his savings in the National Biscuit Company, Quaker Oats Company, American Sugar Refinery Company, etc., he would then establish a relationship which would soon be very valuable. One sees very clearly what this would mean if a large group should combine their stock holdings and vote their stock as a group.

"4. Study business conditions. Retailers must give more thought and study to the conditions of the country as a whole. The average retailer must realize conditions of the entire country, yes, of the entire world. This is necessary in order to know when not to buy, when to borrow and when not to borrow, when to advertise and when not to advertise.

"It is true that the retailers of our country are faced with four tremendous problems, but I believe that all of these problems can be met if the better retailers will only organize and fight collectively; first to get new customers; second, to give better service; third, to establish stronger relations with the companies from which they buy; and fourth, to study business conditions in general. Today business is about normal as indicated by the Babson chart. What the future is to show will largely be determined by the attitude of the nation's retailers. It is commonly said that the stock market discounts industrial changes. Certainly the retailers discount stock market changes. The retailer is primarily responsible both for the high prices of over-expansion and the buyers' strikes with the depressions that follow."

by destructive criticism; they will hardly be impressed by a national tradition that is the constant object of attack.

"People cannot govern themselves well on impulse. There must be a barrier to popular whim. Problems in the industrial field also are strong reasons why the Constitution should undergo no radical change. There must be a strong Constitution which is the guarantee of the rights of all and the supreme arbiter over the warring groups."

STATE HAS EIGHT CENTURY CITIES
Springfield—Illinois has eight cities more than 100 years old. The first town to be incorporated in the state was Shawneetown. Its incorporation papers are dated December 8, 1814. There were a number of towns founded before Shawneetown but they were not incorporated until some years later. Kaskaskia, for instance, is considered to have been the first town in Illinois, but it was not incorporated until Jan. 6, 1818.

The century towns with the years of their incorporation are as follows:
Alton, 1821.
Belleville, 1819.
Cairo, 1818.
Carmi, 1819.

POULTRY SEEN AS PROFITABLE INDUSTRY NOW

Claimed Can be Made Most Profitable of Pursuits

SPRINGFIELD, (By the A. P.)—In an effort to encourage the poultry industry in Illinois, which experts say can be made one of the most profitable of all agricultural pursuits, the state department of agriculture has issued a pamphlet telling how to build poultry houses.

Three types of houses are described, the Illinois, the Indiana and the Missouri, all of which, the pamphlet states, can be employed in this state.

On the question of location of the poultry house the pamphlet stated:

The Best Locations.
"The best site for the poultry house depends principally on the local conditions. The location should have good water and air drainage, so that the floor and yards will be dry, while the house should not occupy a low pocket or hollow in which cold air settles, and it should be situated for convenience in management and adapted to the available ground. Wherever possible a southern or eastern exposure should be selected.

"Poultry can be raised successfully on any well drained soil. A light loam which will grow good grass is well adapted for this purpose. A heavy clay or adobe soil is not as well adapted to poultry raising, as such land does not drain readily, and it is much more difficult to keep the stock healthy. Long stationary houses, save steps, but it is easier to keep the birds healthy and to reproduce the stock under the colony system, where the birds are allowed free range. Breeding stock, and especially growing chickens should have an abundance of range, while the hens used solely for the production of market eggs may be kept on a very small area with good results.

Colony House System.
"The colony house system necessitates placing the houses, holding about 100 hens, from 200 to 250 feet apart, so that the stock will not kill the grass.

"The colony system may be adapted to serve winter conditions by drawing the colony houses together in a convenient place at the beginning of the winter. Thus reducing the labor during these months. Building the long houses in preference to the colony system, you can furnish a yard on each side of the building. Growing green food on one side while using the other, will do very well.

PLAN EDUCATION OF NEW CITY OFFICERS

Better Understanding and Better Methods in American Colleges and Universities Suggested by Secretary American Association University Professors—Refers to the Resignation of Amherst College President

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 21.—(By The A. P.)—Cooperation between national societies representing college teachers on the one hand and college administrative officers on the other as a means of arriving at a better understanding and better methods in American colleges and universities is suggested by Professor Harry W. Tyler, Professor Tyler is head of the mathematics department at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and secretary of the American Association of University Professors.

Referring to the recent enforced resignation of President Alexander Meiklejohn of Amherst college and the resignation of several Clark university professors accompanied by statements protesting against the methods of President Wallace W. Atwood, he says: "These events cannot be regarded as merely local in their significance. Quite regardless of the faults or merits of individuals there is no reason to infer that the events are merely symptoms of some more fundamental defect in the organization of our higher institutions?"

Errors in Management
"There are probably such supermen (if not in presidential captivity) but the chance of discovering one for a given place is well nigh negligible. The difficulties which arise are mainly due to the fact that the business management and the educational conduct of an institution continually overlap. In numberless matters of great importance best results require co-operation of trustees and faculty or of both with alumni.

"Under present conditions in this country each institution is a law unto itself. Interesting and valuable experiments are easily tried here and there but with no certainty of permanence or imitation.

Need Concerted Action
"The way out to a better understanding and better method necessarily lies ultimately with the individual college but much will depend on organized and concerted action. The possibility of this now rests in such national societies as the American Association of University Professors on the one hand, representing the college teachers, and the Association of American Colleges, the Association of State Colleges, etc., on the other, representing administrative officers and to some extent trustees. Through the co-operation of these bodies it should, for the first time in our educational history, be possible to deal with a national problem in a national way, establishing standards which may count on progressive acceptance by the colleges."

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS NOTES

Cooperation of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor will be given in the Illinois department of the American Legion. In its endeavor to care for dependent children of former service men and women, according to assurance received here by Department Commander Charles W. Schick.

Besides giving cooperation the Illinois Legion officials the Children's Bureau has offered aid to the national Children's home project of the American Legion Headquarters at Indianapolis. Miss Grace Abbott is chief of the bureau.

Plans are being perfected by the American Legion Auxiliary unit of this city, for entertainment of visitors at the convention of the auxiliary, to be held in September in Danville.

Mrs. Lin H. Griffith, state publicity woman for the auxiliary, is chairman of the convention committee. "No effort," she says, "will be spared to make every one have a good time, whether officer, delegate, alternate or visitor."

Finances for the entertainment of convention visitors has already been raised in part. According to the report of Mrs. George E. Olmstead, Chairman of the finance committee, the presentation of a show called "The Cameo Girl" in Danville, yielded $1,700 in gross receipts. The cost for the show was made up of about 150 people, who were directed by Torrence McKinney of Alton, in one week.

Among the plans for the convention program already made certain is that Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, will be one of the chief speakers.

Declaring that there is no room for intolerance in the United States, Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, made a strong plea for American unity, regardless of nationality or religious belief in an address delivered recently at the cornerstone laying of the St. Vincent de Paul church in Cincinnati, of which Father William P. O'Connor, legion national chaplain, is pastor.

"America is calling today as she has never called before for strong men and women to stand and preach the doctrine of America," Commander Owsley said. "There is no room in America for intolerance, no thought that should divide us, for we are living under the supreme law of the United States, the constitution, which gives the right to worship God according to the dictates of our conscience. Owsley assailed radical tendencies prevailing in the nation in recent years and urged deportation of all persons who would seek to tear down the country's flag.

The American Legion will be represented at the biannual conference of the British Empire Service League, to be held in London, starting July 16. It has been announced at Legion National headquarters here. Alvin Owsley National Commander of the veterans organization, has appointed the following committee of Legation representatives at the meeting: Donald W. Smith, adjutant of the London Post of the Legion; Oscar N. Solbert, London Post Commander Francis Drake, of Paris and Richard Tobin, United States minister to the Netherlands.

The British Empire Service League is composed of representatives of ex-service men's organizations of Great Britain, Canada, South Africa, Australia, Rhodesia, New Zealand and New Foundland. Its patron is the Prince of Wales and its president is Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig.

"I am in great hopes that a movement will be inaugurated which will draw still closer together all English-speaking societies of ex-service men and women," Sir Haig stated in a letter inviting the Legion to be represented at the meeting. "I hope that I may count upon your advice and assistance." The Legion was represented at the recent convention of the British Legion by Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Ia., and Milton J. Foreman, of Chicago. It was at this meeting that the American representatives were urged to obtain representation for the Legion at the meeting of the Service League.

In seventeen states and territories of the U. S. and in six foreign countries, contributions to the American Legion Overseas Graves Endowment Fund have exceeded the amount set by national officers, according to reports of Robert H. Tyndall, national treasurer.

The states and territories are Rhode Island, Delaware, West Virginia, Maryland, Vermont, New Mexico, Connecticut, South Carolina, District of Columbia, Wyoming, Arizona, Washington, New Jersey, Georgia, Arkansas, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands. The foreign countries are Japan, Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and Cuba. These figures are based on amounts set on per capita membership in the Legion.

Approximately five-eighths of the fund necessary for decoration in perpetuity of graves of American world war dead has been subscribed through the Legion. Pennsylvania leads in the total amount collected, though Ohio is second by but a few hundreds of dollars. Subscriptions to the

a Big Saving to You

The backward spring we had this year, coupled with the fact that I bought more than ever, has left a larger stock of new seasonable high grade merchandise on hand than I would normally have at this time.

I will not carry this over. It would not be fair to my patrons, nor good policy on my part.

I am therefore going to move this large stock of high grade merchandise by reducing the prices to a point that will be so attractive that many men will supply their future needs.

For instance, about 600 Soft Collars, from lines discontinued, formerly priced from 20 to 50c each. These go 2 for 25c during this sale.

DEMAND FOR GIRLS IS ON INCREASE

Chicago.—"Nobody wants a boy."

The outing secretary of the Illinois Agricultural association made this statement after reading over the applications from farm bureaus over the state offering a two weeks' outing to the slum children of Chicago.

In the applications received so far, the demand for girls outnumbered the call for boys four to one. Many of the farmers are quite emphatic in their demand for a girl, while others distinctly give the lasses first choice, while a small majority are requesting only boys.

"Let's give the boys a chance," said the outing secretary in an open letter to the farm bureaus.

"To be frank, the secretary don't like the situation. When she saw little boys crying last summer because their sisters went to the country while they had no chance, she decided the boys were getting the worst of the bargain."

The Illinois Agricultural association has sent out an appeal to farmers to help give the slum children of the city an outing on their farms.

GULBRANSEN The Player Piano

Perfect Accompaniments, too, on the Gulbransen

Soft and sweet, and in perfect time, is the accompaniment played on a Gulbransen.

A mere striking of notes would be out of place. The accompaniment must be gentle and dainty—delicately shaded—with here and there a dash of brilliancy to add color to the performance.

Playing accompaniments is a good test of an instrument—and one that, when you make it, will increase your admiration of the Gulbransen.

What nimblest fingers do in playing the piano, and gaining expression, you do with a music roll and the sensitive "pedal-touch" of the Gulbransen.

This is so completely true that a new name is used to distinguish the Gulbransen from ordinary player-pianos. It is "The Registering Piano."

Please think of it, and investigate it, as such—as a piano that registers your exact touch, your time, your expression.

Think of it, also, as the only instrument that gives you the protection of the price branded in the back; as the original and only instrument with simple, complete instruction Rolls that show a method of correct playing.

GOVERNOR KNOWN AS RHUBARB KING

Governor of Illinois Raises Finest “Pie Plant” brought to Market—Has Forty Acre Field at Home.

Springfield.—(By The Associated Press)—Pie plant and politics makes a savory dish in Illinois. For Len Small of Kankakee, in addition to being Governor of the state, is the pie plant king of the central west.

Up and down “commissioners” row on South Water street, Chicago, Len Small is better known as a grower of high class rhubarb than as the governor of the state. In that locality it is entirely secondary how many votes Governor Small can muster for his hard road program; the primary interrogatory is: “What is Small's rhubarb quoted at this morning?”

Mr. Small's mastery of the science of rhubarb raising dates back to his boyhood, when his father, a horticulturist of vision, experimented with rhubarb in an attempt to make it a commercially profitable crop. Upon his father's early experiments, Mr. Small has developed an industry.

Hot House Crop
The winter product, which is grown by what is called “forcing house” method, goes on the market between January 1 and April 15. The Small farm produces hundreds of boxes of this variety daily during the season, while the volume of the outdoor product reaches many car loads during its season.

The “forcing house” is a dark, windowless, airtight frame building equipped with a furnace. The plants are placed deep in the ground in these houses.

In a 40 acre field at his home near Kankakee, Mr. Small is reputed to raise very fine pie plant.

After the second freeze, the root is placed on the house and h. rainces started. It is then left to grow and about January 1 (the picking begins. Harvesting the crop is unpleasant for the workmen, as they must work in the fetid, humid atmosphere of the practically airtight house. They carry lanterns as the houses are kept absolutely dark. A single ray of light will destroy many plants. Mr. Small is reputed to be the largest grower of rhubarb in the country. A number of other pie plants have sprung up from this parent plant most of them started by former employees of Mr. Small.

These plants are taken from the outdoor beds after they have grown outdoors for two years.

The forcing houses are started in the fall. They are rooted during the early weeks to permit the plants to freeze well. This is one of the peculiarities of rhubarb. Freezing does it good rather than harm.

Wayside Notes

(By S. W. Nichols.)

A short time since the writer had a pleasant ride over a part of this county. As he whirled over the hard road to Alexander and then across to Franklin he was forcibly reminded of a day, many years ago, when he was substituting for the Methodist minister at Franklin; he rode to Alexander by train in order to save that much mud and then Mr. Woods met him there and took him across to Franklin.

The elevator at Arnold is a reminder of some medieval castle with its turreted top and imposing height. That little station on the Wabash has attained a considerable degree of importance with grain and live stock shipping. It was pleasant to pass over the subway and under the railroad tracks and the tourist was reminded of the highways in Germany and other parts of the old world where country roads and railroads were not permitted to cross at grade.

Though the hard road was left at Alexander much of the way across to Franklin had been oiled so that the going was good. Grand is the prospect all thru that part of the county; broad fields as far as the eye can reach and all bearing the fine crops which we all wish were bringing better prices and making us hope for speedy improvement.

Franklin is a wide awake place the merchants and banks of the town transacting a large amount of business. The beautiful new churches erected at Alexander and Franklin add much to the appearance of the places and reflect credit on the worthy congregations who bore the expense.

On a little north of east over the given hill and by several other places the scenery is varied, less prairie and more broken land. A greatly enjoyed feature of the trip was a visit at Appaloosa with an old time friend of the writer and the Journal, Robert S. Givens. Although bearing a weight of 83 years the old gentleman seems to be in the full possession of all of his faculties save that of hearing but he makes up a little for it by being able to read without spectacles.

Mr. Givens is the son of the late Thomas Givens and has spent the greater part of his life in that part of the county. He owns a good farm, is an upright, straightforward man and much esteemed by a large circle of friends. He has a son, William, living near him, two grandchildren and two great grandchildren. He is a staunch believer in the bible and a member of the Southern Methodist church, and ticket.

His memory is wonderful. He reminded the writer of a visit to the neighborhood probably 25 years ago when the guest went to speak in in Appaloosa church. W. C. Wright was along and that fact was mentioned. He also told of a letter the writer sent the Journal from Egypt sixteen years ago.

He had much to say of days gone by and it seemed as if anything he ever knew didn't escape his memory. It was indeed a pleasure to hear him talk and it was with regret that goodbye was said.

Appaloosa is one of the historic spots of the county. In the days away back it was hoped to have a town there and the plot of ground intended for a public square has not been fenced in but is yet open to the road.

The old church building has been succeeded by a new and commodious structure and a modern, up to date school house stands near by. Mr. Givens said that eastern people didn't take to Appaloosa so they started Waverly, but a short distance away, and that grew while the other became far land.

Among the historic names of that locality is that of Rev. Newton Cloud, so widely known in early days as minister, legislator, farmer and all around man, and something of a politician too. He was sought by many to officiate at funerals and weddings and was generally much in demand.

Hardin is another name well known in early settlers. Waverly was the terminal of the trip and the writer regretted his condition which rendered him unable to get about and see his many friends in the second city of the county. A pleasant call on A. C. Moffatt, head of the First National Bank was enjoyed and another with Jay Rodgers at the Ford garage.

Waverly is a fine place and has many reasons for self-congratulation. The school property is especially attractive and worthy of an enterprising town. It has also many other desirable features. The names of Dr. Brown, Curtiss, Wemple, Tanner, Slater, Rohre and many others occur to the writer but the list is too long to be remembered.

The return from Franklin was made through the Asbury neighborhood. Some years since it was rather indefinite to say he was named Henderson and lived in Arcadia, or Seymour or Wright that lives in Franklin, or Hem-brough who lived in Asbury. The above are names which have long been identified with the history of the county. The church at Asbury is flourishing under the present pastorage of Rev. Mr. Rinchart and the neighborhood is one of the best in the county.

And by the way, in passing the writer wouldn't omit the name of Orleans; while not a large city, it is an important place in the county and worthy of note.

PUBLIC HEALTH IS GREATLY IMPROVED

Springfield.—Illinois is growing healthier according to statistics published today by the state department of public health showing a great decrease in communicable diseases.

For the first six months of this year a total of 12,572 cases of smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever were reported against 16,279 cases for the same period last year and 28,694 for the first half of 1921.

Special investigations have been carried out, in all cases of diseases where epidemics threatened and such control measures as vaccination, quarantine, sterilization of water and milk supplies established, according to Dr. I. D. Rawlings, state director

FARM BUREAU
NOTES

A fair lease for owner and tenant—"A farm lease is frequently unjust to one of the two parties concerned. This may be due to the tendency to follow custom without giving recognition to differences existing between farms. Such injustice is most apt to occur when one or both of the parties are not familiar with the community or the farm in question. The farm lease in setting for the condition and terms under which a farm is leased should meet two needs: (1) it should provide for a profitable system of farming, and (2) it should provide for a fair division of the farm income between the tenant and landowner. It should be readily recognized that the proportion of tillable land; the condition of the soil; the amount, kind, and condition of permanent equipment, and like factors make some farms much more desirable than others because of the differences in actual productivity and opportunity for profit. Likewise the contributions of the land owners in land and improvements are quite different when evaluated on the acreage basis. The larger investments in improvements on many farms if well invested could make it possible for the tenant to secure larger profits, and the lease should be so drawn as to give the landowner a just return for the use of such improvements.

Under this variety of conditions which farm leases should meet, it is advisable that a proposed lease be tested out to determine whether or not it seems equitable to both parties. A method of testing proposed lease is to take a typical farm business record which approximates conditions on the farm in question and to distribute all items of expense to the two parties in accordance with the provisions of the proposed lease. There may be recognized differences in the two farms which will make it necessary to estimate part of the expenses on the basis of the expenses as they occurred in the actual farm record. The actual farm record gives a basis of estimating items and serves as a guide to insure the inclusion of all items of expense normally occurring in the operation of a farm. In making the estimate of the contributions of both parties, such items as the value of the operator's own labor, value of labor of members of the family, interest on the investment in the farm and equipment, and depreciation on all improvements and equipment, as well as actual cash expenses, should be taken into account. Such a test of a lease may avoid difficulties which frequently arise when it is discovered that a lease is not equitable. To be equitable, the farm income should be divided between the tenant and landowner on the same basis that they contribute to the annual farm expenses."

Progress in T. B. eradication.

The supervisors in the following Illinois counties: Mercer, Coles, Boone, Warren, Christian, Clinton, Adams, Knox, and McHenry, have recently made appropriations ranging from $4,000 to $5,000 for combatting tuberculosis in cattle. The amounts will be used too in co-operation with U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry in employing a county veterinarian for testing cattle. Payments for condemned cattle will be made from the state and federal funds. The executive committee of the Morgan County Farm Bureau recently went on record as favoring similar action in this county.

Brunswick Tires and Tubes

The manufacture of pneumatic tires for automobiles is open to anyone. There are no secrets, formulas or patents to prevent or even hinder anyone from making tires of the very best grade, provided he has the determination to build such tires, and the capital organization and will-power to put this determination into effect.

We believe that the motorist is far from interested in secret formulas, but he is interested in—and has a right to expect—maximum mileage, and low cost per mile.

BRUNSWICK TIRES are made by one of the older manufacturers, who have always maintained quality.

BRUNSWICK TIRES are sold on an unlimited mileage guarantee.

FOSSIL AREAS IN AMERICA

This Country Has Three of the Four That Are Certainly Known to Exist.

There are only four "fossil forests" areas in the world, three of which are in the United States, the other being near Cairo, Egypt. Of the fossil forests in the United States one is near Calistoga, Cal., several extensive forests are in the Petrified Forest National monument, Arizona, and the others are those in Yellowstone National park.

Though the whole history of the process of fossilization is not fully understood, it is probably dependent upon entombment of the trees in materials saturated with water containing a considerable amount of silica in solution. This silica-charged water was drawn up into the wood by capillarity, the silica being deposited in the cells and vessels of the wood after the water evaporated, making an accurate cast of all open spaces. Then, while the slow process of decay went on as each particle of organic matter was removed, its place was taken by silica, until finally all the wood substance had disappeared and its place atom by atom had been taken by silica.

The forests of the Petrified Forest monument are geologically much older than the others; those near Cairo, Egypt, are believed to be the youngest. The Arizona forests belong probably to the Triassic period. Therefore these trees may have been buried between 5,000,000 and 15,000,000 years ago.

RED CORAL USED AS DRUG

Belief in Efficacy Originated in Old Times and Only Comparatively Recently Was Abandoned.

The red coral of the Mediterranean sea is mentioned by some of the earliest of the Greek writers. Orpheus of Thrace mentions it in a poem as a valuable remedy for the sting of scorpions and for snake bites, and its mythical origin is described by Ovid. The myth that the coral is soft in the water and becomes hard when exposed to the air persisted until the Seventeenth century. It was used in early times by the Mediterranean races not only as a jewel and as an amulet for resisting fascinations, and as an antidote for stings of scorpions, but, according to Dioscorides, it was used as a medicine for the splitting of blood and for dysentery.

Red coral, powdered and burnt, was regarded as a very valuable drug for almost every kind of disease during the Seventeenth century, and it remained in the British Pharmacopoeia until the end of the Eighteenth century, and was still sold in chemist shops as late as 1842.

Ended Critical Situation.

In front of the only vacant seat on the early morning subway reposed a small handbag and a suitcase, the latter pressing itself against the knees of a male passenger who occupied the next seat. Another man entered the car and sat down, and as the owner of the luggage made no attempt to remove it the newcomer was obliged to sit with it under his knees.

He looked uncomfortable and turned with an inquiring look to the man beside him, who seemed oblivious to the glances directed at him.

At last he could stand it no longer, and again turned to his neighbor. "Hang it, man!" he exclaimed, "if you must take suitcases into the subway you might at least keep them under your own feet!"

The other was about to reply, when the train drew into the Times Square station. A woman passenger on the left of the uncomfortable one arose and, smiling, stooped down.

"Pardon me," she said, "I'm getting off here, and these bags are mine."—New York Sun.

Heating Car Wheel Tires.

For heating railroad car wheel tires before mounting them by the shrinking process, an electrical method is in use in France in which the tire forms the secondary of a transformer, being heated by the induced current. The transformer has two laminated horizontal arms, one above the other, connected by a pair of vertical cores. The copper arm is pivoted and counterbalanced so that it can be swung around to permit the introduction of the tire. It is then swung back, putting the transformer into operative position.

Persuasion.

Any woman can make any man do anything, if she can only persuade him that she is doing something really dashing and darddevil. But I admit it takes a clever woman to persuade a man that there is something dashing and darddevilish in attending a village church.

I never had the bump of ambition. As long as a woman loves her husband, she has enough to eat. I can't see that it matters in what order she walks out in a drawing room.—From "The Lower Pool," by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

To Make Floor Wax.

A good floor wax is made by melting a scant half-pound of beeswax, set in a pan of hot water. Add gradually, stirring well, a quart of turpentine, and, when mixed, a half-cupful of ammonia. Cover closely the saucepan containing it and set over vessel of hot water at the back of the stove to heat it for ten minutes. Apply warm with a piece of flannel and polish with a rough cloth.

Unfinished.

1924 Model Studebaker Cars

Avoiding the superlatives frequently used in automobile advertisements, the Corporation desires to faithfully state the facts concerning these cars and the reasons why the public should buy them.

THE CARS

In design, quality of materials, standard of workmanship, durability, refinements, performance, freedom from repairs, and price, the Studebaker 1924 Model Cars are distinctly the greatest intrinsic values the Corporation has ever offered.

Every improvement the safety and practicability of which have been verified by engineering tests is embodied in these new cars.

The Big-Six

THE BIG-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 126-inch chassis with 60 H. P. 3 3/4 x 5 inch motor:

7-passenger Touring Car - $1750 5-passenger Coupe - $2550

5-passenger Speedster - $1835 7-passenger Sedan - $2750

all prices f. o. b. factory

Refinements and a few minor mechanical changes have been made in the Big-Six, which has established an enviable record for five years. Our large production accounts for its low price. It is a car of the highest grade, comparable to the best.

The Special-Six

THE SPECIAL-SIX LINE comprises four models mounted on the standard 119-inch chassis with 50 H. P. 3 1/2 x 5 inch motor:

2-passenger Roadster - $1325 5-passenger Coupe - $1975

5-passenger Touring Car - $1350 5-passenger Sedan - $2050

all prices f. o. b. factory

Radiator, hood, cowl, and body changes have been made in the Special-Six, with minor mechanical changes and refinements in the chassis. The Special-Six has for five successive years added luster to the name STUDEBAKER. It is one of the most satisfactory and finest cars on the market. It is as good in every respect as the Big-Six, except that it is smaller, and costs less to produce, and therefore sells for less.

The Light-Six

THE LIGHT-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 112-inch chassis with 40 H. P. 3 1/2 x 4 1/2 inch motor:

3-passenger Roadster - $975 2-pass. Coupe-Roadster - $1225

5-passenger Touring Car - $995 5-passenger Sedan - $1550

all prices f. o. b. factory

No body or mechanical changes except refinements have been made in the Light-Six. Over 130,000 Light-Sixes have been produced in the new, modern $30,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, under most economical and almost ideal manufacturing conditions. In our judgment, it stands out as the greatest value and the closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

THE REASONS WHY

With $90,000,000 of actual net assets and $45,000,000 invested in plants, Studebaker has ample physical facilities to manufacture most economically.

Studebaker's organization of manufacturing executives, engineers, metallurgists, chemists, inspectors, and skilled mechanics is second to none in the industry. The design of Studebaker cars and the workmanship upon them conform to the highest principles of engineering standards and mechanical practice known to the industry.

Best of Materials Used

Studebaker cars contain the finest known grades of iron, steel, aluminum, tires, electrical equipment, glass, bearings, etc. No better materials for automobile manufacture exist. Sheet aluminum has but one-third the tensile strength of sheet steel, and consequently, Studebaker uses sheet steel for its bodies.

By the manufacture of drop forgings, castings, stampings and the machining, assembling and finishing of motors, axles, frames, transmissions, bodies, tops, etc., and the consequent elimination of middlemen's profits, coupled with lower overhead factory costs per car arising from quantity production and low commercial expenses, Studebaker's costs are kept at an economically low point possible of attainment only by manufacturers with vast physical and financial resources.

Bodies Unexcelled

The bodies of Studebaker cars are not excelled in quality of materials and craftsmanship, by any cars on the market. The Coupe and Sedan closed bodies are magnificent examples of the coach builder's art.

Merit Wins

The sales of Studebaker cars for the past six years have shown each and every year a progressive increase. 81,880 cars were sold in the first six months of 1923 as against 60,053 for the same period last year. Only products of merit can make such growth.

Market Report

By The Associated Press

DECREASE IN LOANS
AND RESERVE DROPS

FINANCIAL.
Total stock sales 276,000
shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 91.39; net loss .33.
High 92.33; low 87.64
Twenty railroads averaged 86.75; net gain .24.
High 92.23 — 90.63; low
76.85.

NEW YORK, July 21—Today's stock market gave concrete evidence of the changed speculative sentiment. Prices closed somewhat irregular but losses resulting from a wave of short selling in the oil stocks generally were recovered on last minute buying and short covering.

Opening prices were somewhat higher than yesterday's closing but the advance did not extend to the usual leaders which drifted sidely. Professional shares concentrated the pressure against the oil shares which were sensitive to selling because of the recent cuts in crude oil prices and some of the motor and equipment declined sharply. A strong demand for stocks of the eastern group of railroads however, frightened the bear traders and turned practically the entire list upward, with the result that most of the early losses were wiped out.

The usual leaders moved in a narrow trading area.
United States Steel was unchanged on a small turnover while Studebaker came fractionally. American Car preferred was three points higher at the close.

The weekly clearing house statement showed a decrease in loans, discounts and investments of $60,698,000 and a drop of $9-946,000 in the reserve of member banks in the federal reserve bank. Net demand deposits declined $39,797,000 and time deposits fell off $5,726,000. Aggregate reserve totalled $520-$69,000 leaving excess reserve of $22,259,250 a decrease of $4,533-
230, under the previous week.

U. S. Government bonds were quiet with net changes unimportant.

BUTTER MARKET
CONTINUED FIRM

CHICAGO, July 21—The but-
very firm, demand was only fairly active but reports of a sharp increase in production together with demand for cars of centralized for delivery on July contracts gave receivers a great deal of confidence in the situation with the result that stocks the supply of which was already high, were very firmly held.

Many doubted that the firm condition was permanent but wanted to take advantage of it even tho' below the prices here quoted and quite a number at premiums or a half cent. This especially was true of 92 score and 90 score cars of centralized.

BOYS SCHOOL AT STATE FAIR HAS DEFINITE AIMS

Designated Melting Pot by Superintendent of Public Schools

SPRINGFIELD. — (By the A. P.)—Illinois has its own "melting pot" in the State Fair Boys' School, according to Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, president of the commission which operates the school.

The students of this school are selected one-half from the city and one-half from the country, and these boys, reared in widely different environments, come together here for a week during the state fair, working side by side, and each gaining something from the point of view of the other.

The school has had as high as 250 boys representing ninety counties of the state. They live in the fair grounds in tents supplied by the adjutant general's department. The school was organized in 1910. Its 14th annual session will be held this fall. Its aim is to offer a well selected body of young men from 15 to 21 years old the means for systematic observation and study under the direction of competent instructors, of the great agricultural, mechanical and educational exhibits of the state fair. Through its agency the directors have hoped more fully to inform and interest the residents of the state in the resources of Illinois and the achievements of her citizens.

Control of School.
The school is under the control of a principal and the boys have classes and courses of study just as they do in a regular school. This year the principal is W. S. Booth, assistant superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Booth's assistants are: A. W. Nolan, associate professor of agricultural education, University of Illinois; Carl Colvin, state superintendent of agricultural education and A. E. Gilpin of Centralia.

The morning of each day is given over to observation, study and class work; the evenings to attendance upon illustrated lectures or to writing notes. Certain portions of each afternoon are left free for general visitation and observation of the various exhibits on the fair grounds.

Each boy is required to keep a record of his day's observation and study and to prepare a report for his home school, the farmers' bureau of his county and for his home paper.

After exercises and songs from the military drill have been arranged for.

Selection of Students.
Each county except Cook is allowed two candidates: one from the city school and one from the country schools. All counties from 40,000 to 60,000 are allowed two extra candidates; counties from 60,000 to 100,000 are allowed three extra candidates. Cook county is allowed 15 candidates.

Each member of the state fair advisory board is allowed to appoint one candidate from the farm and 31 additional candidates are assigned to the state fair management.

The boys pay their railroad fare and supply $7 to cover their board, tuition and incidentals and they are expected to provide themselves with blankets, sheets, towels, soap and other toilet articles.

The candidates are chosen by a committee consisting of the county superintendent of schools, the president of the county farmers' institute and the chairman of the county board of supervisors.

Gives New Viewpoint.
According to Mr. Blair, the school has helped to give a new point of view to the whole state fair. The establishment of the school, he declared, was the first distinct effort toward recognizing the large educational value of the exhibits at the fair.

"The social element involved in this school cannot be overlooked," he said. "The boys are selected one-half from the city and one-half from the country. Here these boys, reared under vastly different circumstances, meet and mingle for one week under most unusual circumstances. A common interest brings them quickly together, shoulder to shoulder they march, side by side they work. No one can tell what this bringing together of 300 young men representing every county in the state will mean to the future of the state."

MILLIONS ENJOYING PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

SPRINGFIELD. — More than 1,000,000 children, youths and adults enjoy the public playgrounds in America every day, according to the playground and recreation association of America which will hold its national convention in Springfield this fall, matron from hundreds of cities.

In 1922, the average daily summer attendance at play centers in 429 cities was more than 1,114,000, according to the association. This year the number will reach 125,000, it is estimated. The playgrounds are conducted by municipal recreation commissions, park departments, public schools or by other agencies.

Many cities have thrown open swimming pools to their people. Last year, 180 cities reported 465 pools. One hundred and one communities reported 298 public baths and 127 announced that they had 223 bathing beaches. Streets were closed for children's play in fifty-three cities, thirty-six of them having these streets under supervision of play leaders.
